This season Atherton was again allowed to stage a two-day Preparation meet over the Australia Day weekend. The weather was decidedly ominous at first, but improved gradually over the two days. They began with holding a 'mini carnival' for the juniors - their 'Platypus Meet'. Several of our littlies took part in this. Stingrays' performance in the remaining events was a little lacklustre, with some isolated highlights – such as Natalie Beck swimming her 400IM alone, but cheered on by a whole host of bystanders from several clubs, to achieve a 42 second p.b.

Atherton again staged their 'Dash for Cash' handicapped finals, giving the chance for six male and female finalists (of the designated 50m freestyle) in each age category to race against each other, and become one of three to win cash prizes. Ben Waters and our honorary unofficial Stingray Noah Hermann from Switzerland won second, and first in the mens', while Emilee came second in the womens'. The second day finished with some exciting relay races, with all swimmers getting an opportunity to race in teams.

Dash for Cash male finalists: winner Noah ('six-pack'), runner-up Benjamin

Dash for Cash female finalists: Emilee came second place

Joel finishing strong as anchor in his relay team. He also achieved p.b.'s in three of his five events
